41,827. In WORLO "WANTS" the Unemployed

Find Abundant Encouragement.

PRICE ONE CENT.

"OVER THE RIVER."

That's Where Clerk McAdam Is. Lawyer Mitchell Says.

At Any Rate He Has Skipped Out of New York.

Comptroller Myers Still Under De Lancey Nicoll's Fire.

"Where is McAdam ?"

This question, put by Mr Nicoll to Lawyer Mitchell, opened the proceedings in the New West Washington Market investigation before the Commissioners of Accounts this

"You know," was the laconic reply of Mr. McAdam's counsel. "Is he in New Jersey?" continued Mr. Nicoll.

' You are well aware of his whereabouts, Mr. Nicoll. You have received a report from your private detectives, who are keeping a good watch on him.

'Mr. McAdam is but temporarily in seclusion," said Mr. Mitchell, "to allow his counsel to ascertain what his legal rights are under the present condition of affairs and to prepare an attack on the commitment by Judge Ingraham.

"His condition of health was such that it was thought better that he be not confined in Ludlow Street Jail while these papers were being prepared, and he accordingly excluded himself from the Sheriff's officers by my advice."

Neither Mr. Mitchell nor Mr. Nicoll would reveal the hiding-place of Chief Clerk Mc-Adum. Mr. Mitchell, however, said "he is over the river," which was taken to mean that he is somewhere in New Jersey.

It had been suggested that Comptroller Myers had decided to remove Mr. McAdam from office if he did not appear at his desk for duty and subject himself to the order of the Court.

when asked if this was his intention Mr. With a said this morning:

"I cannot tell you now. My action will depend very much upon the action of the Commissoners of Accounts,"

Mr. Nicoll continued the examination of Mr. Nicoll continued the examination of the Comptroller and trued to get him to ac-knowledge that Chief Clerk McAdam had more to do with the allotment of stands in the new market than any other official in his department. Mr. Myers said that white is McAdam had done all of the clerical work, the actual allotment in nearly every case had been made by Messrs. Keiso and Woltman.

The Comptroller was examined in detail as o revenues from markets since 1870 to the present time.

Under the reign of Tweed, when Connolly was Compisolier, it appeared that with faver markets than now the revenue was $383,000, while in 1887 but $250,000 was collected.

This amount was increased to $280,000 in 1888 and the Compitoller said that rents have been raised so that it will be $320,000 this year.

Mr. Nicoll was satisfied that the large receipts in 1870 were realized on lower rents than now prevail in the markets, but the Comptroller contended that they must have been larger for all sales of meat outside the markets was interdicted at that time.

Another of Mr. Nicoll's mythical witnesses, John Pickford, has been discovered to be a substantial reality.

John Pickford, has been discovered to be a substantial reality. Mr. Nicoll announced that he is an official in the Brooklyn Navy-Yard, but Mr. Myers knew nothing about the allotment of stands knew nothing about to him.

When Mr. Nicoll came to ask the Comptroller if he had anything to do with the allotment of stands to the Swift Chicago Dressed Beef Company he learned something of interest.

"I know all about that," was Mr. Myers's reply. 'They had given this company twenty-two stands at first. I considered this outrageous and reduced the number to nine. Mr. Myers testified that he allotted a stand personally to Jacob Gray. This he did upon the recommendation of Judge Martine.

A good, liberal estimate of the number of people to whom he individually allotted stands the Comptroller said would be twelve. The witness continually referred to a directory of the market which had been annotated by Deputy Collector Williams since the investigation began. Mr. Williams's notes were found to be very erroneous when compared with the testimony.

were found to be very erroneous when com-pared with the testimony.

They were, however, announced to be cor-rect by Mr. Nicoll on the case of John F.

Williams, who was described as a "large dealer in sheep and lambs. Bkipped."

"That's right," said Mr. Nicoll. "He's skipped. We can't find him, although we want him as a witness very much." skipped. We can't find him, although we skipped. We can't find him, although we want him as a winess very much."

Mr. Myers testified that he knew Charles Philipsen, but had not met him until after the opening of the market.

"I know positively nothing of the $5,000 incident testified to by Mr. Gesner, and had nothing to de with the allotment of stands to Philipsen's company."

Mr. Nicoll's examination regarding recommendations of applicants having had sole

Mr. Nicoll's examination regarding recommendations of applicants having had sole reference to County Democracy indorsements, the Comptroller finally broke out upon his interrogator when he brought out the fact that one stand-holder had received his permit because of the recommendation of Wm. Pitt Mitchell, County Democracy leader of the Tenth Assembly District.

"Let me say right here, Mr. Nicoll," said the Comptroller, "that you appear to desire to give this a political significance by asking me concerning recommendations by members of but one political organization.

"If you will let me explain I can tell you of recommendations by twice as many of an-

of recommendations by twice as many of another organization, four or five from Mayor

Grant,
"Politics, as I've told you before, had nothing whatever to do with the allotment of stands, and never will influence me in my stands, and never will influence me in my public actions.

If 'I can say what very few public officers can. I have been in office fourteen months and have made but three removals, and they were made for absolute cau e.

"It looks as though you would make some more acon, doesn't it?" asked Mr. Nicoll.

"It does," was the Comptroller's reply.

Judicial Liquidation Wanted. [SPECIAL CABLE TO THE EVENING WORLD.]

Paris, March 22.—The Journal des Debats announces that the shareholders of the old Comptoir d'Escompte will sak the Tribune of Commerce to summon a general meeting to ar-range for a judicial liquidation of the affairs of the bank.

THERE is nothing more thrillingly interestirg than the condensed histories of Our Heroes and their battles to be found one in each box of Turking Choss Cur Cigarettes. Be careful to secure the whole library. ...

WAS A STRANGE CHILD PALMED OFF ON HIM AS HIS?

Queer Developments Brought Out in a Diverce Suit-Mrs. Littell's Alleged Mania for Race Tracks and Peker-Playing, and Her Diary's Record of Lesses-Charges and Counter Charges and an Intimation

The suit for divorce of James B. Littell against his wife. Nettre E. Littell, promises to bring forth some extremely sensational details. Charges of infidelity and fraud are freely made by both parties, and in an affidavit submitted to Judge Cullen, the plaintiff says that his wife perpetrated a cruel fraud upon him by palming off on him another child as his own.

He says he was married to the defendant on May 20, 1868, shortly after she had been divorced from her first husband, and from that time down to the present, so deponent has upon inquiry discovered, her life has been covered by a mask, she, in fact, having lived a double life. Continuing he says : "That deponent was for years happy in the belief that he was the father of a lovely child, who is now but twelve years of age, and it was only by a mere accident that he discovered that the defendant had imposed a fraud upon him; whose child it is a fraud upon him; whose could it is he does not know and never has known, but the defendant informed him recently under oath that she took in the child at its birth, employed a doctor and a nurse to attend her, and thus deceived the plaintiff into the belief that the child was the issue of their marriage. She was aided in this scheme of fraud and enabled to carry it out more completely in view of the fact that denonent was absent from the city at that time.

enabled to carry it out more completely in view of the tact that devonent was absent from the city at that time.

"Deponent upon further investigation of defendents life descovered that he had been leading a rapid life, that she has been addicted to card-playing, attending horse-racees and staying sway at hotels, playing poker, of which latter fact she kept a diary in which she noted the amount she lost."

The suit was commenced on March 12. Through his attorney. George F. Elliott, Littell made his complaint. He says they were narried on May 20, 1868, by the Rev. W. W. Atterbury, of Cleveland, O.

He alleges on information and belief that his wife has had unlawful intercourse with a man named Edmund E. Edmunds. He charges that the couple were together at different times during the months of November and December at 18 Sydney place and the Clarendon Hotel.

He also mentions the name of a Southerner and December at 18 Sydney place and the Clarendon Hotel.

He silso mentions the name of a Southerner named Blair, who stopped at the same hotel in Saratoga as his wite in July, 1887.

He says that his wife left home in December with Edmunds, and that the said Edmunds has written to Lillian, their twelve-rear-old daughter, inquiring as to how they were getting along, but giving no intelligence as to the whereabouts of the mother.

Through her attorneys, Dailey & Bell, Mrs. Littell put in a general denial, and asked that she be allowed counsel fees.

She says her husband left her in July, 1888, and has ceased to provide for her support, and induced her to part with her property, consisting of a house at 240 Dean street, by deeding it over to him, and that he also took possession of her business of a boardinghouse, which supported her, and she is now destitute.

She says the house is valued at $6,000.

destitute.

She says the house is valued at $6,000. She claims that he makes a good living by manufacturing rubber-stamps, but that she was compelled to earn the money to support herself and husband.

In another petition ex-Judge Dailey asks for an allowance of $500 in order that testimony may be obtained from witnesses out of the State.

In his affidavit yesterday, after he had denied the paternity of the child, he swore that the house was purchased by him from money the house was purchased by him from money left him by his father and that at one time on lef him by his father and that at one time on persuasion of the defendant he was induced to sign it over to her, but subsequently got her to restore it to him.

He says that he hasn't made a dollar mover two months and has not averaged $8 a week the whole Whiter.

He says that since her return to Brooklyn she has declared Edmunds to be a rascal, and that he had stolen money out of her trunk and that she had left him. He says that she had over $700 in the bank, and asks the Court to deny her motion for counsel fees.

to deny her motion for counsel fees.

Ex-Judge Daily, who was seen by an Evening World reporter this morning, said:

"It's a very peculiar case. I haven't got the time to talk of it except to say that I be-woman.

'I can't say what the answer will be to the "I can't say what the answer will be to the charge that another man's child was palmed off on Littell. I will see the woman this afternoon, and her affidavit will be submitted to-morrow. It may surprise somebody."

MRS. LANGTRY'S DEPARTURE.

the Will Rest Near Philadelphia for s Few Days. Mrs. Langtry will leave New York to-day.

She will not go to Lakewood, as intended, but will remain within about ten miles of Philadelph a until Monday. Her health is much improved and she con-adently expects to appear at the Walnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia, Monday night. At Mrs. Langtry's house, in Twenty-third street, the story that the place is in bad sanitary condition and will be sold was abso-iutely denied. Mrs. Langtry does not own the house, but has a ten years' lease on it. She will not dispose of the lease, but the house will be put in good repair during her

News Summary. Albert Netter's home, at Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, is sold at auction to satisfy creditors. During a severe storm at New Hanover, N. .. , a young man is killed by enormous hail tones.

Gen. Schofield issues an order warning the Oklahoma boomers not to dare invade the Terri-tory until the President opens it for settlement. Jim Cooley, a Tennessee desperado, blows up the house of his enemy, Mack Brown, with dynamite bombs, causing severe injuries to the latter's wife.

Mr. Lewis, solicitor for the Parmellites, secures Richard Pigott's diary and will produce it before the Parmell Commission.

The President of the Minnesota State Senate declares from his seat that there has been wholesale bribery of members in connection with railroad legislation, and says the figures were as high as $10,000 and $20,000 in each case.

Doomed to die, and oh, so young.

Is there nothing that can save
This poor, hopoless sufferer
From the dark and grue! grave?
Comes an answer: "Yes, there is;
'Favosirs Parscaiprios' fry;
It has saved the lives of thomsands
Who were given up to die."
For all "female diseases" Dr. Pirace's Favosirs Parscaiprios' is the standard remedy, and no woman should deepair of recovery until she has given it a trial.

MR. LITTELL'S TALE OF WOE. SAD SPEAKER COLE

He Declares Himself Persecuted by the Committee and "The World."

And Comes Out of His Chair to Explain His Bank Account.

A Hot Campaign Caused Heavy Expenses and Large Entries.

ALBANY, March 22.-Speaker Cole came down from his chair in the Assembly Chamber this morning and asked the privilege of naking a personal explanation.

He had previously called Mr. Saxton, of Wayne, to preisde. Mr. Cole began by calling the attention of the members to the despatch in this morning's WORLD, from Watkins, concerning the Speakers bank account and the deposits and irafts thereon during 1888. Mr. Cole declared solemnly that he had ever received a penny wrongfully and that he had never profited in any manner by the ceiling fraud, if fraud there was, When the Committee had asked him for his bank books he had given them willingly, and told them that he would explain all the told them that he would explain all the entries.

He thought he had done so to the satisfaction of all the members of that Committee, but lo and behold they send a sub-committee up to Watkins to make an investigation.

As to the statement that I deposited $10,000 during the past year," Mr. Cole said, "that is an impudent, malicious lie. There are several large entries, it is true, but I told the Committee what they were for—that they went towards paying the expenses of a very hot campaign in my county, where Gov. Hill was very strong.

During that campaign the Republican State Committee knew that there was a very large number of questionable voters in my district and they sent me some very considerable sums. There were also large amounts sent to me by gentlemen high up in the Republican party. The Committee, of which Mr. Fish is Chairman, has seen fit to lend itself to this persecution of me by the New York World. I know not why they have done this, but they have.

"Now, there is a statement in this World article about a draft of $4,000. Now, I am ready to show that the draft was not my persoual property; that I merely held it in trust, and that when the time of the trust had expired I turned the draft over to its owner, and have a receipt for it in my possession. That will settle all the wild stories about that draft."

"This was the first time in his legislative ex-will settle all the wird stories about that draft."

"This was the first time in his legislative experience," Mr. Cole went on "that he had ever risen to a question of privilege and he sincerely hoped it would be the last."

The greatest attention was given the Speaker all through his speech, though there was a little hum of surprise when he confessed that the Republican Committee had sent money into his county because it contained so many questionable votes.

Mr. Fish rose at the conclusion of the speech and said that it was only fair to the Speaker to state that, so far, no evidence had been adduced to connect him with the ceiling frauds in any way.

Mr. Creamer also made the same explanation, and the House then resumed its usual routine business.

CONFESSES THE MURDER.

LABBE SAYS HE CUT UP HIS WIFE BE-CAUSE SHE WAS UNFAITHFUL.

ISPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. PATERSON, N J., March 22. - Tunis Labbe, the laborer, who barbarously cut up his young wife and is now in the county jail awaiting trial for murder, to-day made formal statement to the warden.

He confesses to having killed his wife, but says she was unfaithful and be committed the act in a fit of jealousy.

He mentions a young married man who is well known here and is an agent for Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing-Machine Company, as having been intimate with her. The night before the murder he says he waited on the street and saw the other man The next day his wife told him she would

The next day his wife told him she would live with him no more, and he resolved that no one else should have her.

Walking into the bedroom he returned in a moment and took up the knife and attacked her, but she fought hard.

As she lay on the floor he says she cried out: "Oh, Tunis, dear, don't kill me."

This, he says, caused him to pause for a moment, but be finished him to pause for a moment, but be finished his bloody work by inflicting upward of forty stabs on the woman.

Labbe ends by saying that he is glad that he killed her and that he wants to die also, the sooner the better.

BOGUS FIREMEN ARRAIGNED.

They Are Wanted in Buffale Also for Work. ing Their Little Game.

The bogus Fire Department subscription solicitors, James W. Drummond and Samuel Conklin, were to-day taken before Justice O'Reilly at Jefferson Market Police Court. Detective Sergt, Vallely stated that he had visited several ladies who had been victim-ized for sums ranging from $10 to $25, but all refused to appear in court.

Fire Supt. Moran, of Buffalo, sent a tele-gram to hold the men until an officer from that city could arrive, as they were want d in Buffalo for working the same profitable game there. game there.
It is probable the prisoners will be turned over to the Buffalo authorities for trial Judge McCue Stricken with Apoplexy.

Ex-Judge Alexander McCue, Assistant United States Treasurer, is in a critical condition at his Remsen street. Brooklyn, from a the stroke of spoplexy,

The shock, which produced paralysis of the entire body, came while Judge McCue was dressing Wednesday morning, and he has been un-

Evening Pastime. Are you reading the absorbingly interesting story that the Morning Would is now publishing entitled "A Voyage to Mars ?" It is a wonderful account of life on another planet; everybody is talking about it. Commence reading it to-morrow (see synopsis of preceding chapters in this issue). It beats going to the theatre.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, MARCH 22, 1889.

LEPAGE'S MASTERPIECE FOR THE METRO POLITAN MUSEUM OF ART.

"Joan of Are" and Manet's "Boy and the Sword" and "Feeding the Parrot" Now the People's Property-The "Bld-ding In" at the Recent Art Sale Appears to Have Had a Commendable Ob ject Behind It.

If that kindly old gentleman, Mr. Erwin Davis, had a representative buying paintings at the sale of his rare collection, the latter was busy for the good of the New York publie, for he was buying in pictures to present to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Instead of permitting the painting to go at meagre figures into the mansions in Fifth avenue, those little private tombs of fine art. where they might be seen by only a few people, he was getting them for the growing collection in Central Park, where they may be be seen by all the people.

The splendid gift made by Mr. Davis to the Metropolitan Museum of Art of Bastien Le Page's masterpiece, "Joan of Arc," and of Manet's celebrated paintings, "Boy and the Sword" and "Feeding the Parrot," was a pleasant surprise to the public.

Bastien Le Page's picture was exhibited in the Museum some years ago, where it attracted great attention. It was the crowning work of his short life. The two paintings by Manet were the chief pictures in the collection of the impressionist school of France exhibited in the Academy of Design about WO YEARS AGO.

Mr. Erwin Davis made his gift from a sick oed, where he is literally to ill to talk, having an affection of the throat. A friend bed, where he is literally to ill to talk, having an affection of the throat. A friend of his said this morning:

"Mr.Davis he been a collector of pictures for the last thirty-five years. He has always been a liberal patron of American artists, in whom, by the way, he has great faith. He buys paintings and not names.

"He says that he is merely an amateur, that he doesn't understand art, and that he never met anybody who fully understood it.

"The three great pictures which he has given to the people were bought for him by the artist, J. Aiden Weir.

"The Joan of Arc" was exhibited in the Academy of Fine Arts in Boston. The people there appreciated it very highly, and I think they would have been rather glad to have accepted it as a gift.

"Mr. Davis bought this painting and the two paintings by Manet, with the intention of giving them to some art gallery, and he thought for a time of giving the "Joan of Arc" to the people of Boston, but he reflected that New York was his home and decided to leave it here.

"He has repeatedly refused to sell it to private buyers, and he asked Mr. Leland not to let it go to any private owner, even if $100.000 were bid for it.

"He is rather amused by the comment that $23,000 was an absurdly high price for it, considering that $45,000 was bid for Jules Breton, and says that no man, from Joan of Arc's time to this, ever conceived such a picture as that which gives us the inspired peasant girl, with fair face and rapt eves, under the apple tree in the little garden in Lorraine.

"By the way, I believe that the cottage is still standing in the little village whence the Maid of Orleans went forth, and that Le Page painted it on the spot.

"As to the comment that people who bought pictures at the sale at low prices shouldn't feel a twinge of conscience.

"A head by J. Aiden Weir, which received an honorable mention in the Paris Salon, was fairly knocked in the head for $65. Mr. Davis paid $300 for it and told the artist that he asked too small a price for it.

"A flower piece by the s which Mr. Davis paid $500, at the same time protesting against the modest value put upon it by the painter, was crushed under the hammer for $300. He is inclined to think that if it had been signed Delacroix it would have brought $2,000. If Weir's other picture had been signed Rembrandt there is no telling what it would have brought.

"When Mr. Davis gets well I imagine he will have a good deal of fun out of this discussion in regard to his buying paintings to give away and in regard to the commercial and the intrinsic value of paintings."

Mr. Davis lives lives in the large apartmenthouse No. 121 Madison avenue. He is somewhat interested in rat. He has many rare works of art in his home.

Incidentally it might not be a bad idea for other picture collectors to buy in the best ones if they also have the commendable object of presenting them to the people's galleries.

OLD MRS. BEBUS FOUND.

She Wanders Into St. Jeseph's Home and Is Taken Home.

Mrs. Mary Bebus, the eighty-year-old woman who disappeared from 214 East One Hundred and Seventeenth street on Tuesday, and though afterwards found by the police, was let go, is once more safe at home.

After two days' wandering in the streets she was admitted last right inder another name at St. Joseph's Home and was there found by her relatives.

They are indignant that they were not notified when the police let her go Wednesday morning at the Yorkville Court.

Capt. Ryan, of the East Thirty-fifth street staticn, was summoned to Police Headquarters this morning by Supt. Murray to explain why Mrs. Bebus, after being taken to court was turned loose again to continue her wanderings.

The Captain reported that when she was brought to the station-house she said her name was Mrs. Vogel and that she lived at Seventeenth street and Third avenue.

Nobody of that name was found in that neighborhood, and the offi er did not know that she meant One Hundred and Seventeenth street. Hundred and Seventeenth street on Tuesday, teenth street.

Protection Against Falling Falls. A high board fence was put up this morning n front of the building being erected at Madison avenue and Fifty-seventh street by Andrew Lester's Sons, carpet dealers, to prevent pedestrians from being injured.

The roof at the north end fell in last night, carrying the floors and ceilings to the ground, and the wall at the north end was left lessing inward. It was propped up to kep if from falling, and will be torn down and rebuilt.

A very valuable illustrated biographical work and criminal history has just been published by Messre, D. Buchner & Co., unfor the title of "Defenders and Offenders and Offenders it contains finely executed colored pictures and biographical sketches of the police chiefe, with the pictures and history of all the polaricus primited and elegantly bound, and can be obtained only by sending 200 of any of the pictures packed in One of the Finest tokeous to the office of the manufactures. **

MR. DAVIS'S GIFT TO THE CITY SAVE THE POLO GROUNDS!

Postpone the Grading of 111th Street Until October Next.

Should Not the Great Baseball Public Voice Its Opinion?

If You Want the Glorious Polo Grounds Saved, Sign This Petition.

Forward It Without Delay to "The Evening World," and It May Settle the Great Question.

Now that both sides, petitioners and respondents, have been heard by the Alderanic Committee on the burning question, Shall the Polo Grounds Go This Year?" isn't it the correct thing that the intensely interested public shall voice its opinion? As the matter now stands the property owners about the Polo Grounds are very much divided as to the desirability of grading One Hundred and Eleventh street through the field this season. The owners of the grounds themselves and a large proportion of the neighboring property owners favor the postponement of that work until the close of the coming ball season, thereby giving the Giants the opportunity to play there this year and affording them plenty of time to arrange for permanent and satisfactory grounds for future years. Other property owners, who by no means show that they are in the majority, urge the immediate cutting through of the street and the consequent demolishment of the glorious ball field on which two championships have been won. The result of the application is dubious. Is it not eminently proper that in this emergency and conflict of opposing interests the great ball-going public should have something to say? Why not get up a monster petition that shall show the great preponderance of public opinion in favor of retaining the Polo Grounds for this season?

Such a petition should certainly have great weight with the Board of Aldermen, and very likely would settle the matter for this year. Well, here's your chance if you want the Polo Grounds saved. Sign the accompanying blank petition and get as many other people to sign it as possible. Forward it without delay to THE EVENING WORLD.

There's no time to lose. SAVE THE POLO GROUNDS. To the Board of Aldermon of New York City:

The undersigned, residents of New York and vicinity and admirers of the National game, be lieving that it is not inconsistent with the major. ity of private interests involved, and knowing that it is in accordance with the desire and ser timents of the great majority of the public, that the Polo Grounds shall not be rendered unfit for baseball playing this season by the grading of

One Hundred and Eleventh street through the Hereby petition your honorable body that no action providing for the grading of said street through the Polo Grounds shall be taken until after Oct. 1 next, thereby enabling the Polo Grounds to be used by the New York baseball public and its champion nine this season and affording scaple time for the securing of permanent grounds for use in future seasons.

We have this petition purely upon public grounds, in the belief that the interests of the National game in the National metropolis merit the consideration and encouragement of the constituted authorities.

	,
Name
Residence
Name	,
Residence	-
Same
	1
Residence.  FREE FROM OFFICIAL CARES.	í
Besidence	1
FREE FROM OFFICIAL CARES.	٧

Distinguished New York Gentlemen Enjoying Southern Sights and Hospitality. SPECIAL TO THE SYRVING WORLD.

St. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 22.-Ex-Presi. dent Cleveland and party left here for Tampa yesterday and sailed thence for Havana last night. While in St. Augustine they were andsomely entertained by H. M. Flagler at the Ponce de Leon. There were illuminations and fireworks at the hotel Wednesday night.

ATLANTA. GR.. March 22.—Ex. Mayor Hewitt, of New York, and his party, were entertained here yesterday. Mr. Hewitt made a spech at the Chamber of Commerce, where a public reception was held. Gov. Gordon and other distinguished gentlemen formed the Reception Committee and secorted the visitors from Rome to Atlanta.

Ex-Alderman Ryan's Barkeener Arrested. Ex-Alderman Michael Ryan's barkeoper. Otto Kopf, was arraigned at the Essex Market Police Court this morning charged with selling liquor to a minor, William H. Tully, of 48 Great Jones street. He was held in $100 bail.

A YOUNGSTER IN A VALISE.

SENT HERE ON THE SPRINGFIELD ACCOM-MODATION TRAIN.

Little Too Young to Tell Its Name and Address, It Is Sent to the Randall's Island Foundling Asylum - It Was Brugged with Paregoric, but Was Quite Cheerful on Coming To.

Kind-hearted Matron Webb introduced an EVENING WORLD young man to a new "Unknown" at Police Headquarters this morning. The "Unknown" was in bed.

A nice, soft, white bed. He was kicking his heels toward the ceiling, and chewing a chubby fist.

He is plucky, too, and the presence of the reporter did not make him feel one whit

He is scarcely six months old, but he arrived at the Grand Central Depot all alone. Train-Searcher Charles Jewson found him in an old value which was under a seat in the Springfield accommodation train.

He carried his find into the Superintendent's office, where a score of excited clerks gathered about the infant and its queen cradie.

The baby never cried once, and seemed to show the appearance his access, and seemed to

The baby never cried once, and seemed to enjoy the sensation his appearance created.

There was something so strangely placid about him that a physician was summoned to examine him. The doctor found that the baby had been drinking from a bottle of milk in which paragoric has been mixed.

This had stupefied the young waif and prevented an outery on board the train.

He was plainly but comfortably clad.

There was not a line of writing or anything else about the little one that might ever serve as a clue to his identity.

From the depot the babe was sent to Matron Webb at Police Headquarters.
She sent it away to-day to the Foundling Asylum on Randall' Island.

There is no hope of detecting the person who deserted the child.

SHALL STRAUS COME HOME?

WANAMAKER AND BLAINE AT ODDS ABOUT THE TURKISH MISSION.

There appears to be trouble brewing in President Harrison's Cabinet. Postmaster-General Wapamaker frets under the restrictions of his office. He feels that his great business experience has fitted him for something better than the dispensing of sickly green postage stamps at the least sug-

DOVER'S CITY BUILDING BURNED.

And a Number of Firemen Injured by the Falling Walls. SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. Doves, N. H., March 22. - Early this mornng fire was discovered near the furnace under the court-room in the City Hall. The flames destroyed the entire building, in which were the police station, City Clerk's office, County Commissioners' office, Regus-try of Probate, Clerk of Courts, County Court-room, Registry of Deeds and Police ourt-room.

The Belknap church property was badly imaged. St. Thomas's Episcopal Church damaged. was saved.

was saved.

There were a number of casualties to firemen. Flugh Hauna was struck by falling bricks and had a cheek-bone broken; James Varney was badly burned; David Hammond had a foot crushed by falling timbers, and Samuel Abbott will lose an eye.

RUSSELL HARRISON IN TOWN.

Not for Politics, but to See Partner Arkell About Their Paper.

Russell Harrison is in town, having arrived from Washington this morning. His business is with W. J. Arkell, owner of Judge and the recent purchaser of the plant of Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, which Mr. Arkell proposes to transform into a weenly of the review style.

Mr. Harrison is to have an interest in the enterprise, and the new paper will be published at Fi.th avenue and Sixteenth street, to which building it will be removed soon.

A reporter asked Mr Harrison regarding the rumors that he would be a candidate for the United States Senate from the new State of Montana, but he declared: "I am more of Montana, but he declared: "I am more with the new State of Montana, but he declared: "I am more with a state of Montana but he declared in redictions in the state of Montana. interested in business then in politics just at present."

He declined, however, to discuss his business plans, save to say that he was here to complete arrangements with his partner, Mr. Arkell, for the management of their new Masons of High Degree.

Many prominent Masons were present at the Consistory of New York City, held last evening at Scottish Rite Hall, Madison avenue and Twenty-ninth street. The degree which re-ceived special exemplification on this occasion ceived special exemplification on this occasion was the twentieth, Grand Master Ad Vitam, which was conferred in full form, with all the new fine coatumes and proporties made specially for this event. The degree required for its portrayal forty-five brethren in full costume, with a double quinted, two organists, a brombonist and a cornellet. It was beautifully and magnificently rendered and much ability was displayed.

PRICE ONE CENT.

2 O'CLOCK.

JUSTICE IS DEAD.

Stanley Matthews, of the Supreme Court, Passed Away This Morning.

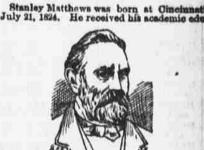

His Illness of a Year's Duration Had a Fatal Ending.

Sketch of a Long Career Well Marked by Official Preferment.

JEPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.

WASHINGTON, March 22. Justice Stanley

Matthews died at 10 o'clock this morning, after an illness of a year.

STANLEY MATTHEWS.

cation at Woodward High School and them attended Kenyon College, graduating in the class of '40.

Eleven years later, his college course having been followed by law studies and his admission to the bar at Cincinnati, he was chosen Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, in Hamilton County. He resigned in 1868 and was elected to the Ohio State Senate the same year.

In 1858, he was appointed United States Attorney for the Southern District of Ohio, but he resigned in 1861 and entered the Ohio Volunteer service, first as Lieutenant-Colonal of the Twenty-third Regiment, afterward becoming Colonel of the Fifty-first.

In 1868, he was elected Judge of the Buperior Court of Cincinnati, He resigned in 1864. He was a Presidential elector that year on the Lincoln-Johnson ticket, and in 1868 he was an elector for Grant and Collax.

In 1876 he was a candidate for Congress, but Gen. H. B. Fenning was elected over him in the Second Ohio District by 75 votes.

He was elected to the United States Senate to succeed John Sherman on the latter's resignation, March 20, 1877. He took his seat in October following, and remained in the Senate until March 3, 1879.

His elevation to an Associate Judgeship in the Supreme Court occurred in 1881, he boing appointed by President Garfield. He had been nominated for the same place by Mr. Hayes, but the nomination was not acted upon.

for something better than the dispensing of sickly green postage stamps at the least suggestion of profit, and would have other departments placed under his charge.

Mr. Wanamaker has gone so far as to attempt to manage the State Department, and the gartleman wearing ultra English garments who presides over that counter in Harrison's general store has naturally resented the in erference.

The trouble has arisen over the Turkish mission. The prosent Minister at Constantinople is Oscar S. Straus, importer and wholes ale dealer in china, glass and earthenware at $2, $4, $4$ and $8$ Warren street, this city.

Postmaster General Wasamaker wants Straus retained. Straus supplies the china-delphis store, and business its spoken of as the carbe of Mr. Wanamaker's interest in his friend's retention.

Straus is an 1884 Mugwamp, and as such his successor.

Mr. Blaine wants to send a prominent hebrew Republican to Turkey, and the man who has secured the plum is said to be farmed the provided in the successor.

Mr. Blaine wants to send a prominent mande a strong feature in his protectionist speeches during the campaign.

Tresident Harrison has listened to the Postmaster-General's argument in behalf of his chinaware importer, but has given no encourarement, and there is little doubt but that Mr. Blaine will prevail in his fight and Mr. Straus will return to his office and warerooms in Warren street.

DOVER'S CITY BUILDING BURNED.

marriage that Associate-Justice Gray has just become engaged.

The home of Mr. Matthews, in Washington, stands opposite the British Legation, is of red pressed brick, curious architecture and is worth at least $100,000. Guests at the house have been handsomely entertained by the Justice and his family.

Justice Matthews was a man of agreeable presence. He was of medium size, but inclined to become portly in his later years. His hair and beard were brown streaked with gray.

His nair and beard were brown agray.

His most notable service during the war was accomplished in his restoration of order at Nashville, where he officiated as Provost-Marshal. He was also credited with the brilliant defense of a valuable wagon train from an attack by Wheeler's cavalry.

Mr. Matthews had been in vigorous health up to twalve months ago, when he was at-up to twelve months ago, when he was at-tacked by the illness which proved fatal. FORGIVING THE ELOPERS.

Chief Justice Fuller Juvites Mr. and Mrs.

Aubery for a Washington Visit. [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] WASHINGTON, March 22.-It is said that Chief Justice Fuller has wired to his eloping daughter Pauline the blessings of himself and Mrs. Fuller, and that Mr. and Mrs. Aubery are expected here within a short time by invit tation of the bride's parents. The young couple are still in Milwaukee and will go to Chicago before coming to Washington.

Mise Kitty L. Thompson, who was seized by the .p.demic of romance which seems to have got into the Washington air, has returned from Baltimore transformed into Mrs. Ewaldus L. Berry, and has been duly received and forgiven. Her husband is a nephew of Senator Berry, of Arkansas, and was a clerk to the Senator's Committee.

Only Quay Desires the Change. ISPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. Pitrishuno, Pa., March 22.—The fight for the Pittsburg Post-Office is condemned by leading Republicans. The Chronicle-Telegraph says editorially: "There is no one except Quay and a few friends of applicants that desire a change, Mr. Larkin has given thorough satisfaction and should be permitted to serve out his term, which has ten months yet to run."

The Senate Passed the Blue Law, Too. PARTFORD, Conn., March 22.—The State Senate has passed the bill which went through the House last week, prohibiting dealers from selling, giving or delivering tobacco in any form to persons under sixteen, and also prohibiting such minors from the use of tobacco in eigarettes or any other form.

Spring Overconts at Vogel Brothers. New and elegant styles Spring overcosts now complete, in a very extensive variety, ranging in price from $10 to $28. Broadway and Houston st. and 8th ave. and 42d st. * 4